

StudioMedicoCalì

Centro Cardiologico e Polispecialistico

Dr. Gianguido Montagnolo

Born in Milan on 23 January 1955.

QUALIFICATIONS

July 1973: Scientific High School diploma

April 1980: Degree in Medicine and Surgery (110/110)

June 1985: Specialisation in Urgent and A&E Surgery (70/70 cum laude) school of Prof. V. Staudacher

June 1988: Specialisation in Experimental and Organ Transplant Surgery (50/50 cum laude) school of Prof. D. Galmarini

CAREER

November 1987: Appointed Assistant at the Istituto di Chirurgia d'Urgenza, Ospedale Maggiore Policlinico, and, in 1992, qualified as Deputy Head of Department and made Shift Supervisor.

1990 – present: Contract professor and subsequently tutor at the Post-graduate School of Urgent Surgery, University of Milan.

Currently, manager and Head of the Ultrasound Diagnostic and Operative Ultrasonography Service of the Urgent Surgery Department of IRCCS Fondazione Ospedale Maggiore Policlinico Mangiagalli e Regina Elena.

Private practice as a surgeon and echographer at the La Madonnina private clinic and, as a surgeon, at Clinica Columbus

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

He started his career in 1980 as the holder of a fellowship at the Istituto di Chirurgia d'Urgenza where, in addition to clinical and surgical activities, he also carried out ultrasonographic examinations mainly in the fields of urgent and operative ultrasonography. The centre for which he is responsible receives patients referred for needle biopsies and all other invasive echo-guided manoeuvres from all of the departments of the Policlinico and a number of other regional hospitals.

Author of more than 150 scientific papers and textbooks on surgical and ultrasonographic subjects.

Milan, 14 November 2013