

StudioMedicoCali

Centro Cardiologico e Polispecialistico

Dr. Gianguido Montagnolo

Born in Milan on January 23th 1955

QUALIFICATIONS

July 1973: Scientific High School diploma

April 1980: Degree in Medicine and Surgery (110/110)

June 1985: Specialization in Urgent Surgery and First Aid (70/40 cum laude) school of Prof. V. Staudacher

June 1988: Specialization in Experimental and Organ Transplant Surgery (50/50 cum laude) school of Prof. D. Galmarini

May 2014: Master in Advanced Laparoscopic Surgery (Turin University Prof. Morino)

CAREER

November 1987: Appointed Assistant at the Istituto di Chirurgia d'Urgenza, Ospedale Maggiore Policlinico and in 1992 qualified as Deputy Head of Department and made Shift Supervisor.

1990-2020: Contract Professor and later Tutor at the Post-graduate School of Urgent Surgery of University of Milan

Till 2020: Manager and Head of the Ultrasound Diagnostic and Operative Ultrasonography Service of the Urgent Surgery Department of IRCCS Fondazione Ospedale Maggiore Policlinico Mangiagalli e Regina Elena.

Private practice as surgeon and sonographer at La Madonnina Private Clinic and, as a surgeon, at Clinica Columbus.

Currently retired, he continues a free collaboration with his hospital in order to maintain his care and teaching activities

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

He started his career in 1980 as the holder of a fellowship at the Istituto di Chirurgia d'Urgenza where, in addition to clinical and surgical activities, he also carried out ultrasonography examinations mainly in the fields of urgent and operative ultrasonography.

The Centre for which he was responsible received patients for needle biopsies and all other invasive echo-guided maneuvers from all of the departments of the Policlinico and many other regional hospitals.

Author of more than 150 scientific papers and textbooks on surgical and ultrasonographic subjects.